Do You Redesign Existing Websites?

Development · https://computancy.co.uk/kb/do-you-redesign-existing-websites/

Yes, we do, but we'll need to audit the current site first.

If it's an older plain HTML that needs converting to a WordPress site, no problem. If it's currently Elementor and needs a new look, no problem. However, redesigning a website built with an older WordPress page builder, like the dreadful WPBakery, can take even longer than creating a new site. This is because all the text and images you will need is merged with a myriad of HTML page code, making it very difficult and time-consuming to extract.

If you can copy the text into a text document yourself beforehand, it will save you a lot of money - but be warned, it’s a tedious task.